11.00 - 12.30 Working Together For The Future Of Cities And Communities In Tanzania And East Africa

Introduction: The LPG industry has been actively involved in Tanzanian communities for 13 years sharing knowledge and raising awareness of the benefits of LPG to communities through clean air and the environment. A new era of optimism and strength has emerged over the past 3 years in Tanzania and in East Africa towards growth, empowerment of people, development of existing skills, learning, and knowledge sharing towards a more prosperous environment for all communities. The LPG business is fostering a knowledge centre approach to business and ensuring communities are armed with skills necessary to be successful.

Discussion: What is important today to ensure the building blocks of the future in Tanzania and East Africa? How can the East Africa LPG industry along with government and communities capture this specific opportunity for all involved? How can all stakeholders in government, industry, and others work together to ensure the viability of economic growth whilst ensuring and creating opportunity at local level and then growing that opportunity into something more? How can we create an environment of empowerment for everyone in the LPG business? How can east african countries and all stakeholders including their communities work together for the success of their communities and LPG at the heart of that development?

The Goal: Investing Into Local Communities In Tanzania And In East Africa

Background: The priority of the LPG business in Tanzania and East Africa is to foster a dialogue with all parties at every level involved in the industry from the government, the distributor, the community, the sellers in order to create a priority of economic growth for the communities, to invest into the communities that use the product, to ensure passion for our planet and in everything we all do. In order to grow, we need to attract the investment necessary towards a sustainable growth.

Discussion: How can we in industry, in government, in local communities secure the investments necessary towards the goals of the communities in Tanzania? What types of funds are needed to help communities to prosper? How can all stakeholders together make good use of investment towards growth? The focus of this panel discussion is to look at the priorities, attract the investment, how to ensure the correct channeling of those funds and how to encourage and foster a working together that leads to an experience of a complete harmony of all stakeholders in the LPG sector. Panelists would include industry, banks, development organisations and more
